

Shaping the next generation

What role will you play at Monash?

Dr Jane Tracy, GP and medical academic, has designed and implemented a curriculum in disability health to ensure graduating doctors are better equipped to provide high quality health care to people with disabilities, including those with communication and cognitive difficulties. Her remarkable work has led to every Monash medical student now graduating with a greater understanding of the health care needs of people with disabilities.

This is just one example of how Monash's bold system of education is making a real and lasting difference in our global community.

Make your career move and join a university that goes boldly to the world.
