

Ideas for millions

What role will you play at Monash?

Professor Nick Birrell runs a postgraduate program at Monash that teaches science graduates the skills to commercialise science and technology projects, ensuring Australia can capitalise on its intellectual strengths and convert research discoveries into economic wealth.

This is just one example of how Monash's bold system of education is drawing together outstanding teaching techniques and learning opportunities from around the globe and providing ideas for millions.

Make your career move and join a university that goes boldly to the world.

www.monash.edu/passport

CRICOS Provider: Monash University 00008C

MONASH University